Deputies Pass the Word -- Machines Disappear, Walnut Creek Acts Also

Illegal pin-ball operations halted in Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Orinda this week, following crack-downs by Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies and Walnut Creek police.

The shut-down came after officers put the heat on owners of bars and restaurants where multiple-play machines have been operating on a wide open scale. Officers told owners to remove the machines.

Pin-ball machines disappeared in Lafayette and Orinda last Friday.

In Walnut Creek the illegal gambling devices were closed down Wednesday morning.

In the remainder of Contra Costa County pin-ball gambling was still going on yesterday, despite reports that it will be stopped in the near future.

Action came just three-and-one half weeks after The SUN first published the fact that illegal multiple-play pin-ball machines and over-the-counter pay-offs were operating on a large scale in Contra Costa County.

Two and a half weeks ago District Attorney Francis W. Collins declared multiple-play machines illegal and said that enforcement is the job of Sheriff James N. Long.

ALTHOUGH SHERIFF LONG was never available for comment during the last two weeks, deputies issued warnings in Lafayette and Orinda, according to Inspector Ray Stoffels.

Stoffels admitted that the shut-down in Lafayette and Orinda came after Sheriff's deputies made the rounds and told bar owners to stop pin-ball operations.

Stoffels was asked if pin-ball operations are going to be halted in the remainder of the county. He replied, "We're going to get all the way around eventually."

Another source reported that firms distributing multiple-play machines in Contra Costa County will remove the gambling devices this week. The report was unconfirmed.

To date illegal pin-ball operation continued unchecked in Danville, Alamo, Concord and elsewhere in the county.

IN WALNUT CREEK the machines were stopped after Police Sergeant R. E. Ault notified the operators.

Ault said that machines were immediately put out of order and added that he was told they would be picked up and removed by distributors.

Ault acted for Chief John Jordan who is on vacation.

Pin-ball gambling has operated wide open in Contra Costa County for years, with the annual "take" estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

The multiple-play type of pin-ball machine permits players to insert many coins before shooting a game and, for this reason, operates just about as fast as a slot machine.

The machine has been declared a game of chance and outlawed in Alameda, San Francisco, San Diego, Los Angeles and other counties in California.

THE STATE PENAL CODE stipulates that any device which is a game of chance is illegal.

Although District Attorney Collins has declared the multiple-play machine illegal, no other statement has been made by officials in Contra Costa County.

Although his officers are known to have ordered the shut-down of pin-ball operations, Sheriff Long has not himself indicated what his orders are in regard to the illegal machines.

Throughout the county the operation of the illegal multiple-play machines has been accompanied by over-the-counter pay-offs which are illegal in themselves.

These pay-offs are made after a pin-ball player wins a number of "free games." The player simply calls the attendant's attention to the number of "free games" and is paid off at the rate of one coin per game.

In Orinda machines were of the 10 cent type, while in Lafayette and Walnut Creek they were played with nickels.

Orinda Man, Two Sons Narrowly Escape Drowning

Edward Ready, 33 Don Gabriel Way, and his sons, William, 14, and Robert, 13, fought a 10 hour battle with the chilly waters of Suisun Bay Saturday.

As a result of a leak and a foundering boat, the owner, Edward Spener Jenison of San Mateo, was drowned.

Those who survived were Ready and his sons, E. L. Titlow of San Mateo; Norman Parish of Oakland, and his sons James, 10, and David, 8.

JENISON and Titlow were about to leave the Pittsburg dock in the 32-foot power launch at 7:30 a.m. Saturday when they met Parish, Ready and their sons, who were bound for a day's outing at Wheeler Island:

Jenison offered them a lift over to the island on his boat.

Jenison handed out life preservers when the boat began to fill with water when they were less than half an hour out from shore. The water continued to rise in the boat despite quick use of pumps and hand bailing.

THE BOAT DRIFTED with the outgoing tide and finally swamped and went aground at 9 a.m. The men floated in the lee of the cabin, leaving the wave washed top to the boys until 2 p.m.

Other boats could not be signaled and the boat began to give evidence of breaking up, so Titlow started to swim to shore.

For two hours he fought the strong current and reached the island shore, where he tramped through marsh land for two more hours before finding a railroad substation from which the Coast Guard was alerted.

STILL ANOTHER hour passed while the members of the party attached to the boat grew weaker.

The boys were washed away from time to time and all joined in bringing them back to the boat. Jenison, who was not a strong swimmer, decided to try to make it to shore, but was not seen alive again.

The boat broke up and then a Coast Guard rescue boat and helicopter appeared. The helicopter picked up Bob Ready, who directed the pilot to Ready and his son Bill. Ready was too weak to climb aboard but he and Bill were lifted from the water into the rescue boat.

In the meantime the helicopter had rescued Parish and his two sons and lifted the body of Jenison from the water.

The survivors were treated for exhaustion, shock and submersion.

Bus Shelter Sale Papers Signed by C of C Officials

Signed and ready to be delivered this week to the State Division of Highways were the necessary papers from the Orinda Chamber of Commerce for sale of the Crossroads bus-waiting shelter to the state.

Chairman Walter Friberg of the chamber's negotiating committee reported that a quit-claim deed covering the building, a right-of-way contract in connection with the state's forthcoming construction of the Orinda Interchange and a bill for $585 had been signed by Dr. Edwin J. McCord, president, and R. E. Gemetti Jr., secretary-treasurer.

These papers were to be sent to the Highways Division by the end of this week, according to Friberg.

STILL BEING awaited by the chamber was a statement from East Bay Municipal Utility District to the effect that EBMUD has no financial interest in the structure. When this statement is received it will be forwarded to the Highways Division.

Request for this statement has been made to Phil Wagner, EBMUD properties division manager, Friberg said.

The bus-waiting shelter has been near the Shell service station, at the northeast corner of the Crossroads, under terms of a limited land use permit to the chamber from EBMUD. There was no charge to the chamber for use of the land.

WHEN THE $585 is received from the state it will be placed in a special fund, to be used for construction of a new bus shelter after completion of the Interchange.

The present bus shelter is expected to be taken away by the state around early December, after the initial phase of Interchange construction.

Bids on construction of the Interchange will probably be called for by Sept. 1, according to L. A. Weymouth, state highway district engineer, with start of the job expected about six weeks after that.

R. E. Wadsworth has been assisting Friberg in chamber negotiations for sale of the bus shelter.

Sewer District Will Reconsider Clayton Valley Annexation Terms

The Central Contra Costa Sanitary District agreed Tuesday night to reconsider its terms of annexation for the Clayton Valley area.

The annexation problem came up at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors.

In addition to the Clayton Valley matter, bids were let for Local Improvement District 28, the Moraga Highlands area in Orinda.

ANNEXATION terms for the Clayton Valley area must be reconsidered, the board agreed, because the terms previously set could not be met legall by the proposed annexing area.

According to Attorney for the District John Nejedly, legally the total bonded indebtedness of the annexed district, including its participation in the retirement of present district bonds, cannot exceed 15 per cent of its assessed valuation.

The board had previously arranged annexation terms on the basis that Clayton Valley could be bonded to its legal limits plus participating in the retirement of present district bonds.

THE BOARD agreed to reconsider the annexation terms in this light.

Citizens from the Clayton Valley area sent private letters to each director outlining terms which they thought equitable. The board members said that they had not had time to digest the letters, but that they would do so and the matter will be reconsidered at a special meeting August 24.

In other action, the board heard bids for Local Improvement District 28, the Moraga Highlands area in Orinda. The job was awarded to low bidder Lewis Dannels, a Lafayette contractor, who submitted a bid of $27,700.

FOLLOWING legal advertisement, the contract will be signed and work is expected to start by the end of this month.

The committee on salaries, Directors Irving C. Roemer, chairman and M. Howard Stanley, recommended that "salaries of all district employees be subject to review and adjustment not oftener than once a year and that a definite date be established for this procedure."

The report, adopted by the board, recommended that "in order to adjust inequities that would follow an immediate adoption of a fixed yearly schedule and to bring the salary review date into conformity with the fiscal year, the following interim schedule is proposed:

INCREASES will be effected as proposed by District Engineer Gerry Horstkotte Jr. as of August 1, for employees who were last increased in September, 1952.

All employees increased February, 1953, will be increased December 1, 1953 upon recommendation of the engineer.

General review and adjustment of salaries will take place on September 1, 1954. The next general review and adjustment will be July 1, 1955 and annually thereafter.

This does not preclude mid-year changes in salary which result from changes or advancements in job classifications, nor does it apply to the salaries of employees in executive capacity, including the engineer, the attorney and the office manager.

The salaries of these employees shall remain subject to review and adjustment at the will of the Board of Directors, the report stated.

Directors Okay United Crusade 'In Principle'

Directors of the Orinda Association are on record as supporting "in principle" the plans for a United Crusade drive in this area.

Although lack of a quorum blocked passage of any resolution which would officially express board attitude, all four directors present at the July 27 meeting at Orinda School voted in favor of the United Crusade perspective for the Diablo Valley Area.

Directors who took this action were President Peter Veitch, Mrs. T. P. Bacon Jr., secretary; Frank Cayting and Norman Gray.

Presence of six directors constitutes a quorum at board meetings.

CIVIC AFFAIRS Committee Chairman Frank Hart, a regular visitor at board sessions, commented that he was "very strongly in favor of the United Crusade."

"If it will simplify the welfare fund drives and their collections, it will do good," he said.

Cayting observed: "The idea of United Crusade is 'One for all, and all for one.' "

"I'm not opposed to it," remarked Veitch.

PRESIDENT of the Diablo Valley Area Advisory Board for the East Bay United Crusade is William Penn Mott Jr. of Orinda, who is superintendent of the Oakland Park Department. In the East Bay he heads the public employees' division of United Crusade.

Mott and Al Wardley, campaign director of the East Bay United Crusade, recently appeared before the Civic Affairs Committee and appealed for support for United Crusade.

First United Crusade drive in the area is scheduled to start Oct. 6, with the Boy Scouts, the Young Men's Christian Association and USO now lined up in it.

IN ADDITION to endorsement of the United Crusade idea, actions of directors at last week's meeting included:

1. Suggestion by Cayting that possibility of using the building now housing Bradley's Market on Brookside Board be investigated.

He said he understood that the owners would give the structure free to any suitable organization that would pay for the cost of moving it.

CAYTING ADDED that it might be possible to move the building to Orinda Community Center land.

Don Bradley, owner of the market, must leave the location because it is in the line of a cloverleaf portion of the Orinda Interchange to be constructed soon. The State Division of Highways has purchased the land on which the store stands.

2. Approval of a financial statement showing that the Orinda Association had about $1100 in assets as of July 24.

Association By-Laws Revision Report Due Aug. 24--Civic Affairs Going Out?

With the annual election of directors only a few months off, reorganization of the Orinda Association is a major topic for both the board and the Civic Affairs Committee, as well as for the entire membership.

Scheduled for presentation at the Aug. 24 board meeting is a report to be made by the by-laws revision committee, headed by Nathan Gray.

Agreement to discuss the matter further at that time was reached by directors last week.

Although prevented by lack of a quorum from taking formal action on the long-pending problem, directors, meeting at Orinda School, went over the many facets in an effort "to take the mystery out of the Orinda Association," as Civic Affairs Chairman Frank Hart described the objective.

PENDING BEFORE the board since February are two specific proposals for revision of the by-laws:

1. To have directors elected by district instead of by the community at large, as at present.

2. To make the Civic Affairs chairman a full, voting member of the board.

These two proposals were offered by Clinton Hallsted, last year's Civic Affairs chairman. He and Stanley Allen are on Gray's by-laws revision committee.

Since these proposals were suggested almost six months ago other changes have been urged.

ONE OF THE MOST sweeping, urged by Hart, would do away entirely with the Civic Affairs Committee by having each director in charge of a key committee. The various committees, serving directly under board guidance would replace Civic Affairs.

During renewed discussion of this suggestion last week, Association President Peter Veitch remarked.

"The board should meet twice a month under such a setup, in lieu of the present system of Civic Affairs meeting once a month and the board meeting once a month."

When Frank Cayting mentioned that the contemplated changes required revision of the by-laws the others agreed and Hart observed:

"The by-laws are antiquated, anyway."

"WE'VE OUTGROWN the need for the Civic Affairs Committee," Hart emphasized.

At present the board consists of 10 members — nine from specific precincts but chosen by the community-wide membership, plus the immediate past president, who is a director-at-large.

Under Hart's proposal there would be the same number of directors but each director would be elected by the members from his district, which would include two precincts.

President Veitch expressed approval of the idea at last week's session, adding that proper func-

Suggestions on Nominees Asked By September 7

Chairman Frank Hart of the Ornda Association's Civic Affairs Committee announced this week that he mailed 18 sets of nominating ballots to improvement associations and other civic clubs in the Orinda area last Saturday.

These ballots are for listing of suggested candidates for Orinda Association directors and for Civic Affairs chairman for 1954.

Hart asked that the forms be returned to him at 100 Overhill Road by Sept. 7, so that they can be considered at the September meeting of Civic Affairs.

"In that way, we hope to get the election ballots out to the members in October and to wind up the election in November," he explained. "Such a schedule will enable the new officers to take over as of Jan. 1."

The Civic Affairs Committee acts as the nominating committee for the annual election of directors. It elects its own chairman. Its nomination of directorship candidates and its choice of its chairman will be greatly facilitated by the suggestions of the clubs, Hart stressed.

School Budget Approved; Tax Cut Realized

The 1953-54 budget of the Orinda School District was approved as proposed Monday night at a public hearing at the Orinda School at 8 p.m.

The tax rate will be reduced by 30 per cent . . . from $1.75 to $1.17 per $100 of assessed valuation.

TWO ORINDA residents appeared at the hearing, but there were no complaints, according to Mrs. Katherine Schwarck, clerk of the Board of Trustees.

"There were no objections," said Mrs. Schwarck, "and in fact, the board has received quite a bit of commendation because they have reduced the tax rate," she said.

THE TAX reduction was possible because of the increase in state apportionment funds, according to Superintendent of Schools Joseph Sheff. State apportionment has increased from $213,190 last year to $290,768 this year.

This increase in state funds permitted the board to adopt a higher budget than last year, but still reduce the tax rate.

Dew Was Due, And It'll Do

The weatherman was all in a snit because there was not enough moisture this week to measure on his tin-can gauge in the back yard.

"It was cooler this week," he said glumly, looking at a moth-eaten coat he was wearing. "The low for the period of July 30 through Wednesday night was last Friday with a temperature of 47 degrees. The high was a comfortable 80 degrees on Tuesday."

"The only thing that gets me down," he added, "is that there was a sort of drizzle for a couple of days and I couldn't record it."

"Hah," we said . . . "and you call it the scientific method."

Richard Hafner Jr. Back from Far East

Richard Hafner Jr., son of the senior Hafners of 49 Loma Vista, returned last week from Djakarta, Indonesia ,where he operated the first and only English language newspaper in the country of approximately 80 million population.

Hafner flew home by way of Europe, stopping in London and Paris. He flew to New York, picked up a new car, and drove home.

He plans to attend the University of California next semester.

Funds Urged for Korea Aid; Drive Will Close Soon

Postmaster Laura Mallary, Orinda drive chairman, announced this week that the Contra Costa Aid to Korea campaign will end in about two weeks and appealed for stepping up local contributions.

"Checks should be made payable to Aid to Korea, and sent or brought to the Orinda Post Office or the American Trust Company here," she said.

"ONLY CASH is sought in this campaign, with Americans directing the expenditures for the care of orphans, widows and amputees," Mrs. Mallary stressed.

"Anyone intending to make a donation is asked to do so immediately."

Mrs. Mallary emphasized that "the need is great" and cited President Eisenhowr's "strong support" of the nationwide effort.

AMERICAN G.I.'s in Korea have contributed 13 million dollars to the Aid to Korea campaign, she pointed out.

County Supervisor Ray S. Taylor is county campaign chairman.

SUN Concert in Park Cancelled

The "concert in the park," scheduled for August 18 at Acalanes High School, has been cancelled.

Under the sponsorship of The SUN, the Parks Air Force Base "Band of the Golden West" was scheduled to play, but the Musician's Union, Local 424, would not permit it.

The following statements are part of a letter received from the union Wednesday:

"Your request for this local to clear the Parks Air Force Band was taken before our board . . . and denied. We feel that the Armed Forces Bands should be used for the purpose they are organized for.

"As I told you before we are in the music business and hope to keep as many of our members working."

The letter was signed by Gay G. Vargas, secretary.

The concert was scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. It was to be held, free of charge, under the stars on the Acalanes High School athletic field, which is equipped with bleachers.

In addition to the band concert, the Parks organization was to present a "German Band," an 18 voice male chorus and a barbershop quartet.

Chamber Listens To Report on Business Area

The Orinda Chamber of Commerce heard the preliminary report of the fact-finding committee on local business facilities at its meeting Tuesday noon at Casa Orinda.

The committee, composed of Ramsay Underwood, chairman, and Earl Cappel, had been assigned by the chamber to aid the Orinda Planning Committee of the Orinda Association in its work.

In the absence of Underwood, the report was read by Andy Blalock.

THE CHAMBER also heard William Penn Mott Jr. speak on the goals of the United Crusade and appointed Vice-President Laura Mallary to attend the United Crusade meeting last night at the Harvey B. Lyon home on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

The report of the business facilities committee stated that there are 46,230 square feet devoted to retail business in the Crossroads area, and that there are 35 different types of business there.

Non-retail business (doctors, dentists, architects, accountants, the bank, etc.) occupy 9920 square feet and restaurants take up another 14,759 square feet.

IN ORINDA VILLAGE, 34,487 square feet are devoted to retail businesses of 16 different types. Professional offices there occupy only a small amount of space on the second floor of buildings.

This material has already been used by the Orinda Planning Committee in conference with County Planning Consultat Charles Hayes Diggs and the County Planning technical staff, with the aim of bringing about a master plan for Orinda as soon as possible.

The chamber has already gone on record as opposing the rezoning of the Pine Grove area by the East Bay Municipal Utility District . . . the action which precipitated the forming of the business facilities committee.

Rotary Club Hears Richmond Manager

Thompson, who has recently returned from a tour of Europe, presented his observations of the political and civil situation there.

Hugh G. Haskell on Navy Training Ship

On the second of three summer midshipman cruises aboard the light cruiser USS Worcester is Midshipman third class Hugh G. Haskell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Haskell of Camino del Diablo.

Haskell is a student at Stanford University.

Davis Alley to Get Loading Zone

At request of County Road Commissioner Victor W. Sauer, the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday directed the district attorney to prepare an ordinance creating a loading zone in Davis Alley.

Deputy County Clerk Mary A. Smith reported that the proposed ordinance will probably come before the board next Tuesday and that the supervisors will probably act on it that day.

Davis Alley is a short connecting link between Moraga Highway and Davis Road, behind Casa Orinda and other buildings.

The instructions to the district attorney specify: ". . . from the easterly curb line of Moraga Highway to a point 161 feet easterly of said curb line, measured along the center line of Davis Alley."

Acalanes High School Budget Passed After Two-Minute No Protest Hearing

The proposed $1,100,000 budget for the Acalanes Union High School District was approved by the Board of Trustees of the district at meeting Tuesday night, following a public hearing for the budget.

The hearing began at 8:16 p.m. and ended at 8:18 p.m. with a motion for approval of the budget which was passed unanimously. No one attended the public hearing to speak either for or against the budget.

A letter from the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association was read that asked the tax rate be cut as was promised the voters when they approved a greater state aid in voting last year.

TRUSTEES INDICATED they felt the assumption that they had promised lower taxes contained in the letter to be inaccurate.

Superintendent Neil Parsons told the board that he had gone over the budget with a representative of the taxpayer's association and that the representative had not indicated any strong disapproval of any part of the budget.

The budget includes the following expenditures: administration, $28,900; instruction, $504,800; auxiliary services, $12,880; operation of school plant, $75,780; maintenance of school plant, $32,240; fixed charges, $23,700; transportation of pupils, $4,600; food service, $1,300; community service, $2,000; capital outlay, $332,100; and undistributed reserve, $25,000.

Income for the district is listed as: state apportionments; $256,026; district taxes, $597,095; and other income, $12,000.

The $1,100,000 budget for this year compares with $890,792.76 for last year.

THE DISTRICT TAX rate is expected to jump from $1.40 of last year to "close to" the legal limit of $1.50 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation, Parsons said.

"The reason for this," Parsons said, "is to get necessary money for construction."

In other action, the board made Ross Reagan business manager for the district. He previously held the title of administrative assistant.

The board also authorized the hiring of two additional clerks by the district, one for work at Las Lomas High School and one to work as bookkeeper on transportation in the district office.

The board also approved the hiring of Mrs. Frences Waukhope to be secretary at Las Lomas High School, and the hiring of Mrs. Joan Biddison to fill the transportation bookkeeper position authorized at the same meeting.

Superintendent Parsons read a letter to the board from the accounting firm of Heruth, Thyken and Smith proposing to do the new audit of the school required by recently passed state law for $2,100.

After discussion, the board decided to continue to retain Eldo Ewert, Walnut Creek accountant who has estimated the same job at $1,000.

PARSONS TOLD THE board of a meeting with a representative of Paddock Pools. The pool company said that it should take no more than eight to 10 weeks to build the Las Lomas Swimming Pool when it is authorized.

The board decided to allow any adult education classes to continue that are not eligible for state support under a law passed at the last session of the state legislature, if adequate tuition can be collected, and if the classes do not take space or facilities required by an educational class.

Parsons pointed out that the same session of the legislature had removed a $6 ceiling tuition charge allowed for adult programs.

John Loop Moves To New Location

The John W. Loop Company, Inc., moved Monday to 10 Moraga Highway.

The move was necessary, according to Loop, because the state is taking over the property on which the business was located in order to construct the Orinda Traffic Interchange.

The company is now located in the same spot in which Loop operated originally under the name of Orinda Crossroads Realty in 1950.

The same staff will be present in the new location of the Loop business to serve the public, Loop said.

Organist Back From Vacation

After a short vacation, Daniel Popovich resumes his regular duties as organist for the Orinda Community Church Sunday.

He will play three selections for the service at 10:30. They will be "Air for the G String," by Bach; "Adagio," by Bargiel, and "March in C.," by Chauvet.

The featured music of the morning will be a duet by Molly Nelson, soprano, and Jeanne Watkins, contralto, entitled "I Waited for the Lord."

C. Ray Fowler has chosen for his sermon subject "Treading Upon High Places."

Hearing Delayed On Lot Division

The Board of Supervisors Tuesday postponed for the fourth time its hearing on the land use request of Mrs. Frances A. Lax for permission to divide Lots 59 and 60 of Haciendas Del Orinda Unit 1 into two parcels less than a half-acre each.

New date was fixed at Aug. 18, 2 p.m.

The County Planning Commission recommended almost two months ago that the application be denied, on the grounds that the division would be substandard for the area.

REASON FOR the latest delay is that Board Chairman H. L. Cummings was absent because of his recent minor operation and that he wants to confer with Planning Commissioner Joseph D. De Costa about the matter, according to Deputy County Clerk Mary A. Smith. De Costa is the Orinda member of the Planning Commission.

A previous postponement was due to De Costa's being away, Miss Smith explained.

F. D. COURNEEN'S application for 10-foot side yards for Lots 64 and 65, Moraga Gardens Unit 2, and for a 10-foot setback for Lot 65 was granted by the supervisors.

The Planning Commission had given favorable recommendation to Courneen's request.

FAVORABLE recommendation was given Tuesday night by the Planning Commission to Conway A. Sears' application for 5-foot side yards for a rumpus room on Lot 21, Orinda Estates. The lot fronts 72 feet on the north side of Acacia Drive, about 600 feet north of Hacienda Circle.

Carl R. Meurk withdrew the application he had filed with the commission for a 5-foot side yard for an addition to residence on Lot 53, Moraga Glorietta Unit 1.

ACCORDING TO Assistant Planning Technician H. Russell Griffith, a letter had been received from Meurk, stating he had redesigned the addition so that it would comply with zoning restrictions. Griffith said the side yard will be 15 feet.

The lot fronts 122 feet on the south side of Irvine Drive, approximately 350 feet east of Moraga Via.

Dispute Marks Hearing on 'Art-Garden Center' Proposal for Suburban Zones

Sharp protest and spirited defense marked the hour-and-three-quarters first public hearing Tuesday night before the County Planning Commission on the proposed zoning amendment to allow art and garden centers in Suburban-zoned area.

About 100 persons were present for the hearing in Room 210 of the Hall of Records in Martinez according to Assistant County Planning Technician H. Russell Griffith.

Second public hearing before the county planners will be held Aug. 18, 8:30 p. m.

After the Planning Commission makes it recommendation, the Board of Supervisors will conduct a hearing of its own and will take final action.

DEFENDING HIS request for change in the Zoning Ordinance to allow art and garden centers in the one-acre Suburban-zoned areas was Judge Thomas Coakley, Alhambra Valley resident recently named to the Superior Court bench in Mariposa County.

With him as his legal representative was Attorney Tony De Lap, former state senator.

OPPOSITION SPOKESMEN included Attorney J. Richard Aowntend, legal representative of the Alhambra Valley Improvement Association in the dispute; President Harold M. Hays of the Happy Valley Improvement Association of Lafayette, Boone Robinson of the Orinda Association's Planning Committee and the Planning League of Contra Costa County and State Senator George Miller Jr.

Also present was Clifton Brooks from Brookwood Acres in northern Reliez Valley, Griffith reported.

THE IMMEDIATE controversy centers in Alhambra Valley, but four other Suburban-zoned areas would be affected by the proposed amendment — the Canyon Ranch section of Orinda, south and east of Sleepy Hollow; a part of Happy Valley in Lafayette, Brookwood Acres and a section near Concord.

Senator Miller, an Alhambra Valley resident near Judge Coakley's property, submitted a protest petition bearing the signatures of some 180 residents of the area.

HE SAID HE HAD looked for a long time for a homesite in Contra Costa County and had selected Alhambra Valley because it is quiet and rural. He stated he and others wanted to keep it that way and declared he would be among those protesting any land use application for an art and garden center if the zoning amendment goes through.

The proposed amendment would allow art and garden centers under land use permits.

Townsend, Hays and Robinson stressed that art and garden centers are commercial ventures and have no place in Suburban-zoned areas. They argued that the people in those areas wish to maintain the high-quality residential character of the sections.

TOWNSEND SAID that even if the proposed amendment is enacted the people of Alhambra Valley will object every time a land use permit is sought for an art and garden center there.

Hays presented a resolution by the Happy Valley Improvement Association directors, expressing opposition to the proposal.

In his remarks Townsend mentioned that Judge Coakley is going to move to Mariposa County, is planning to sell his Alhambra Valley property and wants to enable the next owner to have an art and garden center there.

DE LAP, pointing out that he had been given the case only recently, said he had wanted a continuance of the hearing, so as to have more time to study the matter.

THESE PEOPLE REALLY know the value of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center. Left to right, Marilyn Monako of Lafayette, Mrs. Jody Liggett of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Lillian Mitchell of Concord are preparing material which volunteer organizations throughout the area will use to promote the fund drive which will be used to build new quarters for the Therapy Center on Hookston Road. All three are patients at the center and are receiving treatment for some type of orthopedic handicap.

Artists Market Plans Series of Classes and Shows in August

The summer season for the Artists Market in Lafayette has been highlighted by the very popular driftwood sculpture classes that have been conducted by Dr. Bohus Benes.

Chairman Helen Noble announces an additional series of four lessons conducted by Dr. Benes which began Wednesday, from 1 to 3 p.m., at the Artists Market, to meet the demand for further instruction for pupils who started with the original series of lessons, and also to accommodate others desirous of benefiting from Dr. Benes' teaching.

MRS. NOBLE and her committee have made arrangements to present two classes in art instruction this fall. Beginning Sept. 1 Emily Dascallos will give basic instruction in composition, perspective and figure. The Market being firm in their belief that this is an obligatory course for the beginning painter.

These basic instructions classes will be held on Friday afternoons at the Artists Market from 1 to 3 p.m.

For the more advanced pupils who are interested in painting in oils, a series of four lessons in oil technique will be given by Edith Dinkin, a most active member of the Market.

Her classes will be held on Tuesday afternoons, from 1 to 3 p.m.

THE MEMBERS of the Artists Marekt have decided to continue as they continue to prove successful. They will be given in a series of four lessons each and the classes will be held to a minimum to insure proper instruction for the pupils.

Further information regarding charges and equipment can be obtained by calling the Artists Market, Lafayette 2930.

During the month of August, the Market will present an "Open Show" for the members of the Outdoor Art Shows, Inc. Several "one-man" exhibits have been held at the Market this year and have proven highly successful.

A PREVIEW PARTY is usually planned on Sunday afternoon to introduce the artist and his work to the members of Outdoor Art Shows, Inc., and then the show is open to the general public and often the works of the artist are for sale.

In this way the Market works with the artist — by presenting and displaying his painting, ceramics, sculpture, or whatever his field may be, and placing them on sale. The Market itself is a non-profit organization.

The "Open Show" to be held next month at the Market is for the benefit of the members of the Outdoor Art Shows, In. All members who have work they would care to display are invited to do so.

ALREADY MANY local artists have brought in their paintings and also a very original and unusual new line of jewelry is to be introduced in this show.

United Crusade Board Meets, Explains Tie-in with East Bay Organization

The Diablo Valley Advisory Board for the East Bay United Crusade met last night at the Harvey B. Lyon home in Lafayette to explain working of the organization and answer questions of charitable groups interested in joining.

The local United Crusade board was formed June 29 and now three local fund organizations are participating. The Crusade is scheduled to begin in October.

The groups now preparing for the drive are Boy Scouts, the Young Mens Christian Association and the Unied Defense Fund (USO).

THE LOCAL BOARD of the United Crusade will set up and administrate the drive in the Diablo Valley area.

Participating groups will submit budget requests to the allocations committee of the board and these will be reviewed, approved and forwarded to the central appropriations committee in Oakland for ultimate approval.

Members of the Diablo Board will be represented on the central appropriations committee in Oakland.

Solicitations in the local area will be made by workers from charity organizations participating, under the coordination of the local members of the board.

It is reported that no Oakland United Crusade officials will control or direct the decisions of the Diablo Valley Board.

ALL FUNDS collected in the Diablo area will be turned in along with funds collected elsewhere in Contra Costa and Alameda Counties.

When all returns for the year are in, the funds will be re-distributed to local boards in an equal ratio.

Each charity organization participating will receive the same percentage of its budget as the others. If 96 percent of the total goal is colleteced, then each organization will receive 96 percent of its budget.

In the event that the United Crusade goes over the top, excess funds will be placed in a holding fund. Each charity group will be able to draw on that fund in the ratio of its budget to the total goal.

IN THIS CASE, an organization with a $30,000 budget in a total goal of $3 million would draw one percent of any funds above the $3 million goal.

Budgets of groups participating in the United Crusade must include estimates of operating expenses only and not capital outlays for construction or purchase of property.

The East Bay United Crusade employs an office staff in Oakland. These paid employees have as their primary duty, the preparation and placement of publicity material and advertising while the Crusade is active.

Contra Costa charity groups are expected to benefit from alliance with the United Crusade from the co-ordinated, time saving methods of solicitation.

So-called "commuter donations" made at work by residents who are employed in Oakland and San Francisco will not be lost to charities at home, spokesmen say.

These "commuter donations" will be turned in to the United Crusade and redistributed to local agencies along with all other donations and collections.

Acalanes Trustees Vote to Call for Las Lomas Bids

Advertising for bids on additions to Las Lomas High School was authorized by the Acalanes Union High School District Board of Trustees Tuesday night.

The additions include a classroom wing, a shop wing, additions to the present locker rooms, and of some courts. The advertising will appear today, Aug. 14 and Aug. 21 and the trustees will open the bids in a week to 10 days.

The work is to be bid on in a series of alternates and a base bid.

IN ADDITION, the board authorized a call for bids on tennis courts for Las Lomas. The courts will be regulation doubles courts eight feet apart and paved with plant mix. They are to be located on the southeast section of the high school property near the present parking lots.

The bids will be for a base bid for four courts with an alternate bid for five courts. The courts are to be surrounded with a 10 foot high cyclone fence with two gates.

The board also directed a representative of Kump Associates, the district's architects, to look into the possibilities of enlargement of the Las Lomas High School gym.

The increase to be considered would make the gym 40 percent longer and would include a stage at one end of the gym. Proposed plans call for a canvass curtain to divide the gym to allow separate girl's and boy's physical education classes.

SUPERINTENDENT NEIL Parsons said that the building would then double as an auditorium, and he feels that it would be a good idea to enlarge it, as the district will have no funds to build an auditorium within the forseeable future.

The board awarded a contract to pave the present Acalanes parking area and an additional area between the present parking area and the school.

Cleverdon Co., Inc. of Lafayette was awarded the contract on a low bid of $4,325. Four other companies bid and the bids ranged to a high of $5,999.

There is no closed season or bag limit in Humboldt and Mendocino Counties. Bear hunting elsewhere in the state begins Oct. 10 and ends Jan. 15.

Death Takes Heather Ambler

Heather Ann Ambler, daughter of Louis and Cecile Ambler of 220 El Toyonal, Orinda, died last Saturday in her 15th year.

In addition to her parents she is survived by her brother, Smedley, and sisters, Babette and Pamela.

PRIVATE SERVICES were held Monday at the Albert Brown Mortuary, Piedmont Avenue, Oakland, the Rev. Ray Fowler officiating.

Interment was at Sunset View Cemetery.

A memorial service will be held at Orinda Community Church at a later date.

Hoping to save other young lives full of great promise and to save others from the distressing helplessness of their recent experiences, Heather's family would appreciate any donations friends may feel like making to research on sarcoma through the American Cancer Society, 3031 Telegraph Avenue, Oakland.

You Can Win Free Weekend for Two, Just Watch for Trip Tips – It's Easy

This week's Contra Costa Shopping News offers you the opportunity to win a free weekend for two at a luxurious resort!

In the display advertisements and among the classified ads are Trip Tip jingles which hint at the name of the resort.

The name of the resort is also hinted in the special new Bonus Clue in this issue.

ALL YOU HAVE to do is correctly name the resort. By doing this you can win a delightful, free weekend for two at the resort.

In addition to the rhymes and the Bonus Clue which hint at the resort's identity, there are other clues in this week's Contra Costa Shopping News which take you to the town where the resort is.

This is the last week in which clues in the Contra Costa Shopping News Treasure Trip contest appear.

EVEN THOUGH you may not have started on the contest before, you can start from scratch this week. All clues which have previously been published (except the Bonus Clues) are in this issue, along with the new clues.

So you have plenty of "leads." Remember, you must give the exact name of the resort itself not just the area or the town where the resort is located.

JUST FILL OUT the entry blank and send it in.

Deadline for submission of Treasure Trip solutions will be Monday, August 10. All entries will be judged on August 11. Decision of the judges will be final, and all statements submitted will become the property of the paper.

Entries must be in by Monday or If no one correctly guesses the name of the resort by Monday, the contest will be extended one week and there will be additional clues in next week's Shopping News.

In case of tie, top contestants will be asked to complete this statement in 25 words or less: "I read the Contra Costa Shopping News and The SUN because -------" Final winner among the tied top contestants will be decided by the completed statement judged best.

THE WINNER of the Treasure Trip will be awarded two complete days (including meals and two nights) for two persons at the specified resort on dates selected by the winner, subject to available reservations. The prize is for two people on the same trip.

must be postmarked not later than that date — Monday, August 10.

Not included are transportation, tips and other expenses. The Treasure Trip cannot be exchanged for cash.

ANY RESIDENT of Contra Costa County 14 years of age or over may enter the Treasure Trip contest, except staff members of the Contra Costa Shopping News and The SUN, owners or managers of firms advertising and members of the families of these persons. Only one entry per person will be accepted.

Ted Gurney Takes Top Honors

Gurney's portrait of A. A. Markstein of Lafayette was judged top entry in its division at the four-day conference.

The portrait won over entries submitted from top photographers of 11 western states who attended the annual convention in the Southern California city.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurney spent the week at the convention and attended a series of lectures and clinics on the latest technical developments in photography.

'Spirit' Subject On Sunday for Christian Science

"Spirit will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday.

The Golden Text will be this verse from I Corinthians: "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (2:12).

In the sermon the following statement by Paul to the Ephesians will be read: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling" (4:4).

From the Christian Science textbook "Scencie and Health wth Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, this passage will also be included in the sermon:

"Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God" (p. 335).

Since only half as much fuel is used, this low flame cooking method saves money, while it performs kitchen magic. Even on hot summer days, kitchens are cooler. Walls and curtains stay bright and clean, because cooking vapors can't escape. Only on modern Gas ranges can you get the exact heat for this healthful, vitamin-saving way to cleaner, cooler cooking. In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said District, or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

tioning of committees, as envisioned by Hart, "would do away with duplication of discussion as is often the case now, under the Civic Affairs-board system."

HART SAID he had proposed that the Civic Affairs Committee, in preparation for the coming election, send letters and nominating ballots to local improvement groups in Orinda.

"This will give the local associations the opportunity to send their nominations for directorship candidates to the Civic Affairs Committee, which serves as the nominating committee," Hart explained.

The letters and the ballots were sent out last Saturday.

The letters sent to the neighborhood groups request information about the suggested candidates, including, in addition to name and address, the following:

Is the suggested candidate a property owner? How many years has the person lived in Orinda? What is the person's civic background and his or her experience in community affairs? Has the person definitely agreed to run if the nomination is approved?

SIX DIRECTORS will be chosen in the election a few months from now. They will be for posts now occupied by President Veitch, who will continue on the board through 1954 but as a director-at-large, and Mrs. T. P. Bacon Jr., secretary; Stanley Allen, Charles Blue, Jack Cooper and Vice-President Everett Howe, all of whose terms will expire at the end of this year.

To remain on the board for another year, along with Veitch, are Frank Cayting, Nathan Gray, George Hauerken and Zach Montgomery.

Around the Village ☐

Too many people have been asking questions, so I'll have to tell this story.

A salesman for one of my suppliers stopped in one Sunday morning not long back. Dropped a bundle on the counter and said. "Here, take it, it's all yours if you want it."

Investigating I found two excellent steaks, sauce and all the ingredients for a wonderful barbecue.

Seems a big Sunday barbecue had been planned at his girl friend's home, for just two. Arriving early that morning he was politely informed his girl had left the night before for Reno and a hasty wedding.

I, with portable barbecue brazier, plenty of charcoal and the like, couldn't let the poor man suffer any longer.

So, if you were puzzled at the pleasant odor of broiling steaks around my store a few Sunday mornings ago, you can rest at ease. (Man that was good!)

Early Deer Season Opens Tomorrow

Deer hunting conditions slightly better than last year have been forecast by the Department of Fish and Game for California's early coastal hunting season which opens one-half hour before sunrise tomorrow.

Nimrods taking to the dry hills of 26 central and south coastal counties and parts of counties will find the deer in good shape, fire hazards high and conditions generally drier than last year.

EQUIPPED WITH hunting licenses and deer tags, hunters have until Sept. 13 to stalk their bag limit of two bucks in the counties of Mendocino, Lake, Colusa, Sonoma, Napa, Yolo, Solano, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles and Orange.

Westerly portions of Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Kings, Kern and Riverside Counties are included in the 37-day early hunting season.

Except for the Mendocino National Forest, Glenn County was moved by legislative action from the early season and placed in the Sept. 19-Oct. 18 hunting season area.

OTHER RECENT legislative action tightens up on the law which revokes the license of a hunter who has shot another and makes it a felony to hunt with or without a license after conviction of such an offense.

For the first time this year, the killing or wounding of a domestic animal while hunting is cause for revocation of hunting privileges for five years.

DEPARTMENT DIRECTOR Seth Gordon cautioned hunters to keep their camps clean, use all firearms with common sense and take extra precautions this year with fire.

"All sportsmen who love hunting deplore the few irresponsibles who create hazards for all," he said.

Grodins Take Top Spot in League

Grodins of California, cellar dweller in the first half of Walnut Creek Softball Association play, climbed into the top spot for the second half when they trounced the "unbeatable" Forbrag's crew, 9-3, for the second time in league play Monday night.

In other league play this week, Forbrag's edged Rick's Drive Inn, second half basemant baseballers, 5-4, Wednesday night. And last Friday night, Tiny's Hut eked out a 2-1 win over Rick's Drive Inn to firmly establish themselves in the fourth spot.

In Monday's game, Grodins started off with a big first inning, posting four runs, and the real estate men were never close to them.

Forbrag's made one run in the fourth and the other two in the seventh. The clothiers tallied two in the second and one apiece in the third, fourth and fifth.

Local Clubs Down Tourney Winner Twice in Exhibs

Tri City Auto of Rodeo, the team that walked off with championship honors in the Walnut Creek Invitational Softball Tournament, was downed twice by local clubs in exhibition play during the past week.

Super Saver led the auto men 16-6 Wednesday night when the game was called in the fifth inning due to time. Grodins of California downed the same club 8-1, July 30.

Walnut Creek Walnettes lost to the Alameda Merchant Maids, 11-8, July 30.

The local clubs lost out in other exhibition games as Salel Brothers of San Leandro trounced Tiny's Hut, 10-1, Tuesday; Martinez Yacht Club defeated Super Saver, 5-2, the same night, and Folgers Lumber smothered Rick's Drive Inn, 15-0 last Friday.

Your Garden

Timely Advice Offered by Our Guest Columnist, State Nurserymen's Group

Substituting as guest columnist this week for Bert Wright is the California Nurserymen's Association with the following plentiful Gardener's Checklist.

Wright and his family recently returned from a month's vacation at Lake Tahoe, and he hasn't yet had a chance to whip a column into shape. He'll resume his column, though, very soon!

Here's your checlist from the Nurserymen's Association:

1. Sow these flower seeds now for winter color: Winter sweet peas, tetra snaps, winter stocks, viola, pansy, calendula, baby primrose and alyssum.

2. Set plants out now for late summer and fall bloom: Petunias, marigolds, lobelia, snapdragons, zinnias and asters.

3. Plant perennial seeds now for next spring flowering: Delhpiniums, Penstemons, columbine, coreopsis and Sweet William.

4. Disbud exhibition chrysanthemums if large flowers are desired. Watch for black aphids. Fertilize at frequent intervals with fish emulsion.

5. THIS IS A GOOD TIME to make shrubbery additions to your garden. Container-grown plant materiel can safely be transplanted any time throughout the year.

Perhaps you can find a spot for the fragrant Star Jasmine. This plant, which goes under the name of Trachelospermum jasminoides, excels in every way.

It has splendid evergreen foliage, fragrant, star-like white flowers, will grow in both sun or shade and is most adaptable. It may be used as a slow-growing vine, a spreading dwarf shrub, a ground cover or a tub specimen plant.

6. KEEP THE SURFACE roots of rhododendrons, azaleas and camellias moist at all times. a 1-inch mulch of oak leaf mold over the rooting area will help.

7. Watch for the black aphids on chrysanthemums — spray with lindane.

8. Sow these seeds now for fall and winter color — stocks, snapdragons, calendulas, pansies, violas and primula malacoides.

Incorporation?... Study Is Essential

Incorporation is becoming more and more a topic of discussion in Orinda.

Rezoning, Community Center, roads, future business areas, electric power lines—these are just a few of the many important subjects with which Orindans are faced.

In recent months when such subjects have been discussed it has been quite common for someone to remark, "If Orinda were incorporated as a city, we could deal with that problem as we wished."

That doesn't mean, of course, that most Orindans are for incorporation. But it does show that increasingly the importance of studying incorporation facts is being realized.

The Orinda Association and the Glorietta Improvement Association have been aware of this importance for some time. The Glorietta group has asked the Orinda Association to prepare a study on incorporation for Orinda. The Orinda Association's incorporation study committee has just been reorganized, with Frank Cayting as the new chairman.

Cayting is keenly interested in having studies and discussions conducted on incorporation. Ernest Spiegl, who resigned as committee chairman because of his duties as acting president of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District Board, has served as an observer on the Lafayette Improvement Association's incorporation study committee.

Orinda Association President Peter Veitch was an interested observer at the big Lafayette meeting on incorporation at Acalanes High School a couple of months ago.

Despite this growing interest here, we realize that Orinda incorporation is a very "hot" subject and we predict many spirited debates before decision is reached.

However, there is only one intelligent approach to the problem. That is to determine the facts and to study them carefully.

In that connection, we can learn valuable lessons from our neighbor community, Lafayette, where incorporation has been a topic of intense interest for several years.

Early last year, tackling the subject again, the Lafayette Improvement Association formed a new incorporation study committee, under the chairmanship of Harold Furst. This committee explored the subject as thoroughly as it could.

It met with governmental and police officials from neighboring cities, learning about details of a city setup.

It arranged with the Coro Foundation of San Francisco for a comprehensive study to be made on probable costs and income for an incorporated Lafayette.

After the Coro report was issued, community-wide meetings were held. At the record-attendance gathering at Acalanes last June the vote of the people on whether to take steps to incorporate was evenly divided.

The Lafayette committee is continuing its work. The group is being enlarged. More discussions—by the committee and by neighborhood associations—are contemplated, and more community-wide meetings are planned.

The Lafayette committee has avoided making any recommendations. It has concentrated on collecting and presenting facts.

That, it is obvious, should be the approach in Orinda. And that seems to be the perspective of Frank Cayting, new head of the local incorporation study committee.

Because of the importance of learning all available facts —which are the only sound basis for eventual decision and action—the Orinda Association's incorporation study committee deserves the whole-hearted support of all of us in the conducting of a thorough study of incorporation.

Drainpipe Dollars . . . They Need Your Help

By DICK OSBORN

Something is being done about the rainwater that is costing the people of Central Contra Costa County money.

Funds are being invested to provide drainage facilities to take off excess water that is eating up your tax dollars.

ORDINANCES have been passed to acquaint people with illegal actions which are costing every homeowner dollars which could be spent elsewhere.

Civic groups are spending their funds to promote an understanding of some of the problems that are inevitable in a growing area such as ours.

But the major responsibility is yours . . . if you pay taxes. It is yours if you own a home.

The problem of the rainwater which flows into the lines of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District is typical of the many problems that face the area.

Here are some of the things that are being done to correct the situation . . . and some of the reasons why it is your problem and only you can solve it.

The rainwater which enters the sewer lines must be processed just like sewage and waste . . . This costs money by using equipment and manpower which could be used elsewhere for profitable purposes.

It means that the Sanitary District must have on hand more machinery than it actually needs to process the sewage of the district . . . it must have it because it must process rainwater.

Much of that rainwater comes from drainpipes which are connected to the system . . . probably by individuals who do not know that it is costing them, and their neighbors, thousands of dollars each year.

In order to solve this problem, these steps have been taken.

The Advisory Committee to the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District has agreed to call a meeting of representatives of the local improvement associations operating in the area covered by the Sanitary District.

The committee is going to explain to the representatives the gravity of the situation and enlist their aid in checking the area served by each improvement club. It will ask them to acquaint their members with the problem . . . and even further . . . to patrol their areas and check for any drains which are connected to the sewer lines.

The Advisory Committee will ask that this be done on a neighborly basis because it must be done somehow . . . and good neighbors do not wish to cost their neighbors, or themselves, money.

An ordinance has been passed by the Board of Directors of the district which makes it illegal to deposit anything but normal waste in the sewer lines.

Attorney for the District John Nejedly said, "The board has recently adopted an ordinance prohibiting the flow of any foreign materials into the sewer system, including the placing of storm waters in the system, either surface storm water or drain-off water."

"Any violation of any rule or regulation of the district is a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine, not to exceed $100, or imprisonment not to exceed one month in the county jail, or by both such fine and imprisonment," he added.

He also added that it would be cheaper and much less embarrassing to remove any drains which are connected with the system.

AS ACTING CHAIRMAN of the Board Ernest Spiegl puts it: "In passing the ordinance it was our intent to make it illegal to run storm water into the sewer. We know that we cannot enforce that without the aid of the public. The enforcement must come from the people themselves.

"We feel that individuals are unwittingly connecting their storm drains without knowing the trouble and expense they are causing, and therefore we depend upon individuals passing the word along.

"I am sure the average violator of this ordinance is not aware that he is violating anything. It is not the board's desire to ever prosecute anybody under the ordinance, because inspection, prosecution and legal work cost money . . . and again it is the taxpayers' money."

C. C. Rich, County Flood Control engineer, pointed out that steps have been taken in the Gregory Gardens area to correct the surface flooding that occurs during heavy rainfall.

In turn, this correction keeps surface water from flooding down manholes and into Sanitary District lines. Thus, flood control money is not only helping those who suffer from flooded homes, but it is helping reduce the burden on other taxpayers by reducing the amount of water which must be processed by their sewage treatment plant.

This type of cooperation between the Sanitary District and other governmental agencies is not uncommon . . . but the taxpayer is seldom aware of what is being accomplished.

He is seldom aware of the fact that his little roof-leader drain is causing so much trouble.

But he is aware of his taxes.

So the problem rests in your hands . . . if you pay taxes or if you own a home. The Advisory Committee is going to the improvement groups. The Sanitary District has passed an ordinance . . . all it can legally do, and has tried to point out the difficulties involved in order that each person can "tend to his own chickens."

Sanitary District employees have worked with other governmental bodies in order to correct some of the problems which are contributing to the waste of the tax dollar.

BUT NOTHING can be done until you help.

Have you looked as your last tax bill recently? Have you looked at your own roof leader? Where does it go?

Martinez Merry-Go-Round

Contra Costa County took over three Federal Government housing projects valued at $5 million last week for a cost of $100,000, the price that the Federal Government originally paid for the land without improvements.

The projects are Knox Park at Port Chicago, Bayo Vista at Rodeo and Columbia Park at Pittsburg, containing more than 2,000 rental units and bringing in $546,000 in annual rents.

Dr. H. L. Blum, County Health Officer announced recently the Division of Sanitation is moved from 1125 Jones Street to 915 Green Street, Martinez. The telephone number is the same, Martinez 3000, Extension 88.

NEW ASSESSMENT HIGH

The assessed valuation of Contra Costa County was at a new high Tuesday with the announcement by Chief Deputy County Assessor C. Lou Dunkel that the public utilities assessment amounts to $87,433,650.

The new high figure is $406,992,230 for the county. The utilities, assessed by the state Board of Equalization showed a gain of more than $10 million over last year.

The new figure will result in lower tax rates than previously announced in several tax districts that based earlier estimates on a lower assessment figure.

HEADS MAYORS

Jack Fries of Martinez was retained as head of the Contra Costa County Mayors Conference in elections held recently. Millard E. Bostock of El Cerrito was elected vice-president and R. Everett LeMoin of Brentwood was elected secretary.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Your editorial on gambling in our communities recently was very good.

Your stand is the right one. I am a member of the Lafayette Covenant Church and can truthfully say that your convictions are most encouraging from a sound Christian standpoint on this matter.

Yours very truly,
EZRA NELSON

California's wine industry again will conduct its popular wine sampling preference surveys in the Counties Building at the State Fair this year. Last year 10,000 samples were recorded, with the results being incorporated in a broader survey for the wine industry. September 8 has been designated at Wine Industry Day at the fair.

Weaving Means Color, Texture And Originality

(This article, another in the series on what to look for at an art show, is by prominent craftswoman, well-known for her work in handwoven textiles.)

(A weaving exhibit will be one of the features of the Fifth Annual Art Show to be held in Lafayette September 11 through 14 under the auspices of Outdoor Art Shows Inc.)

By VESTER VETTER

Interest in handweaving has grown phenomenally since the war. Although it requires considerable equipment and space and thus is not an inexpensive hobby, it is estimated that there are now 300,000 weavers in the country.

Textures and colors developed on handlooms have profoundly influenced powerloom textile design.

The fascination of weaving is understandable. The making of fabric for many useful and beautiful articles of clothing and for the home is only part of it.

There is endless challenge and satisfaction in working with the materials available today: thick, thin, shiny, dull, rough, smooth, soft, hard, simple or spun into more complex nubs flakes, loops, chenilles.

The weaver can choose among natural fibres like cotton, linen, silk, mohair, alpaca, cashmere, jute, hemp, ramie, or the new man-made "miracle" fibres such as the rayons, nylon, dynel, orlon, and so on, even cellophane and other plastics.

A whole new field of weaving is based on the use of bamboo, raffia, wooden strips, reeds, pineapple fibre, even such things as tules and corn husks gathered from the fields.

Most of this material comes in many colors, and the loom itself is an efficient machine which enables the weaver to put together these yarns in an infinite variety of designs. It is not possible in one lifetime to accomplish all the possibilities of weaving.

The weavers of the Bay Area rank with the best in the country.

Weaving is one art form which is not complete in itself and usually requires the services of upholstrers, tailors, or finishing of some sort.

An attempt to exhibit this material creates a problem, since for example, fabric woven for a chair is uninteresting hung upon a wall, or a lighted window is not available for properly displaying a casement. For this reason, weaving selected for exhibit, to make as good a show as possible, is not necessarily woven for use, but is important nevertheless as experimentation.

While the weaving shows are on many levels, the best of these include fabrics which demonstrate as many as possible of the following characteristics:

1. Color that is alive and vibrant, though not necessarily brilliant.
2. A pleasing texture achieved by color, yarn combinations, or an interesting interlocking of threads.
3. A distinctive selection of yarns, used honestly to show their essential characteristics.
4. Good design.
5. Craftsmanship demonstrated by good edges, an even beat, proper pressing. The finishing of made-up articles should be of professional calibre.
6. Originality — some special excitement of color, use of new materials, or new techniques.
7. The woven piece should be something that cannot be found in the stores made from powerlooms.

WAIT ON CURB

Wait on the curb until the "Go" signal permits safe crossing of the intersection, advises the National Automobile Club. Pedestrians who venture into the street before the signal changes are taking a long chance to save a little time.

Under The Sun

By the Editor

"What're you doing, boss? Yaking some more about those silly pin-ball machines and gambling — and poor old Sheriff Long and Collins? Don't you know people get awfully tired of you guys always harping on such things. And, heck, it's certainly not very important."

Snoopy, the office cat, ducked behind the carriage of my Underwood, just as I tossed a book. Then I decided to ignore her.

She jumped to the work table under the window and said, "Come on now, admit it. You're beating the drums about gambling so you'll have something to fill the front page."

"Now look here, Snoopy, if you're arguing for the fun of it, you can stop right now. I've got lots of work to do."

"No, I'm serious. The cats in the neighborhood are giving me a bad time because of The SUN's stories on — ahem — illegal multiple-play pin-ball machines and over-the-counter pay-offs. I'm getting tired of it. Now what harm are those pin-ball machines?"

I could tell by the gleam in her eye that she wasn't kidding me.

A heart-to-heart talk

"Okay, Snoopy, we've always talked these things over — man to cat. So I'll tell you.

"The pin-ball games in themselves certainly are not terribly bad. They are simply mechanical games with balls and lights. In fact, other games of chance, such as poker, are not immoral merely as games.

"Now don't tell anyone but we had a poker game at the house not so long ago and it was a lot of fun."

Snoopy's ears shot into the sky. "You don't say. I thought you guys had appointed yourselves Protectors of the People's Morals. And now you confess this horrible thing."

"Lay off, Snoop, I'm trying to indoctrinate you, so you'll know what it's all about.

"Now pin-ball machines are okay — except when they are made into gambling devices with pay-offs, etc. Then, they are illegal — understand? They are prohibited by law in San Francisco County. The district attorney in Alameda County won't allow them. They are banned in the City of Richmond in our own county, as well as in Los Angeles and San Diego. They are illegal by state law.

Let's look at our towns

"But in our towns and throughout most of the county, pin-ball gambling is going full blast. Everyone knows it. It's done before the eyes of our law enforcement officers.

(Editor's Note: This column was written before we learned that the sheriff had given the word to stop pin-ball gambling. Because it explains our policy, it is published without revision.)

"And here is the real danger of the situation. The men we elect to enforce the laws are ignoring the laws. We don't know if they are merely lazy or if there are other reasons.

"But the fact remains, the laws are not being enforced. And even when this is publicly disclosed, our public officials (Long, Collins, etc.) merely shrug their shoulders and say, 'So what?'. As a voter try to phone them. They won't answer you.

"Write them a letter about this. They won't answer.

"What kind of public officials do we have when they can decide which laws to enforce? They apparently believe they are above the law and are more important than the people they represent.

"Gambling and rackets — big or small — lead to graft and corruption in our government. Gambling is big business.

5c or a million dollars

"You'd never guess, but the pin-ball deal is estimated to be a million-dollar business in this county.

"This is apother key to the problem. If gambling is allowed, there is the danger of corrupting our government. Then, gambling helps foot the bill for other 'businesses' — prostitution, narcotics, numbers, etc.

"All of this leads to the breakdown of good government. And I'm not talking about Chicago or New York.

"I'm talking about your sheriff's deputy and policemen in Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette and Orinda. Remember, our county seat is just over the hill in Martinez.

"Actions of public officials affect you directly and indirectly. Your own safety, your home, your community, your tax bill — all are affected by government. And . . ."

Snoopy jumped up. "Wait a minute boss. You're getting all wound up. I think mebbe you've got something. Tell you what — I'll whip over to the corner bar and see if I can pick up something new about it. I'll be back in an hour . . ."

And that's how Snoopy was converted.

Just a reminder

If you usually shout and pull your hair at tax bill time, NOW is the time to do something about it. Our county, school and other districts are now holding hearings on their proposed budgets.
